Chapter Convention 2014

This years Chapter Convention was a huge success! Everyone had a blast and it was an amazing way to give the seniors a meaningful farewell and to welcome the new members in an exciting way! Alec Cohen and Sam Halpern, our CC coordinators, did an amazing job planning everything. Our first day was at the campground. We had many different programs planned by our coord's. after opening programs, setting up tents, and give out rooming info, we had a great dinner made by Chef Michael Gould and Sam Halpern.

After dinner and a bit of free time to settle our full stomachs and watch the rest of the USA-Portugal World Cup game, we were split up into two groups for an intense and fun game of capture the flag. After a long time of putting opponents in jail then them getting broken out someone finally grabbed a flag.

Before everyone headed to bed we had a campfire with s'mores and meaningful conversations about our past year at Fisher.

Unfortunately due to rain we had to leave the campground early, but thanks to The Elias family we still had a place to stay. Our first program was a serious one about bullying lead by some of our amazing Fisherman.

Next we went to a park starting with a program planned by a couple of our AIT's, Sam Koretz and Ben Walters, that taught each us about the harshness of the Holocaust. Our last program was Max Fisher AZA #337's 2nd Annual Fisher Hunger Games. It was a tough battle that went on for a long time, alliances were made as well as destroyed. When it came down to the last three people, Sam Finn, Jonah Newman, and Matt Elias all pulled their flags out at the same time, giving them first place. Our night ended with an amazing separates program, ice cream sundaes and a pool party in the rain.

Jake Nitzkin said, "For the first time, I felt like CC brought me closer to the chapter as a whole, as opposed to just a team." His favorite part was the hunger games because, "...it was super fun and intense!"

“Summer programs provide you with an opportunity to discover new things about yourself and meet people who genuinely care about your success and well being, doing all that they can to support you even after the program”

CLTC is Truly Life Changing

The leadership sessions are awesome because you learn so many different strategies that great leaders use to inspire others. I have learned so much about chapter programming, speech writing, and how to brand myself. Some of these skills can be used not only in BBYO, but also life in general. One of my favorite programs was the IC Kickoff Dance. There was music, dancing, hayrides, and much more. This was a good time for me to strengthen my bonds with friends. I also loved the Shabbat services because I felt so connected to Judaism. By the end of CLTC, I had made friends from all over the country, many of them coming from Atlanta and Texas. I will never forget my fellow alumni of CLTC 5 2014 and my brother alephs of Hazavim AZA #300.

ILTC

After attending CLTC 7 2013 and IC Dallas I was sooo excited to have the chance to attend ILTC 2014, when I arrived at camp Perlman everything was hectic, there were so many places we needed to go and I did not know where anything was. Thanks to the Madrichim I some how found my way, after waiting about an hour to get my lice check, signing up for electives, and bringing my luggage to my dorm. (Shout out to dorm 12 and 13) ILTC had finally began. I got to reunite with my old friends from CLTC and IC, and make many more during my 18 day stay at Perlman. I learned so much about BBYO, from daily lessons in my blue (black) print to helping create the 70th 90th anniversary mural, I made connections with people I never would have met if I hadn't come to ILTC.

-Sam Halpern

ILSI

ILSI was the most meaningful trip I've ever taken in my entire life. Although it had all of the regular perks of going to Israel with friends (seeing amazing sights, making unforgettable memories, and creating new close relationships), it gave me and the other participants something unique: an inside look on the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. We arrived in Israel two days after the bodies of the three Israeli boys, Gilad, Eyal, and Naftali, were found, and one of our first programs was visiting their resting place. We, the ILSI delegation, stood in a circle around their tomb, and let the gravity and the emotions of the situation wash over us as we said a few prayers for those boys that were murdered just a few days before. We carried that same emotional tension in our heads and in our hearts throughout the rest of the program. It didn't diminish our experience, but it made us more aware of our surroundings and the fact that we were living in a war. Before ILSI, I had a connection with Israel that I made a few years before. During ILSI, I fell in love with the country. Now, after ILSI, I feel like the conflict in the Middle East is personal, and I'm proud to play my part in educating people about the truth concerning the conflict. I'm now proud to call Israel my home. -Jake Nitzkin

IMPACT DC:

Aleph Matt Fealk recently left for IMPACT: DC! He says the program includes lots of community service, lobbying, and advocacy. He also says, "You get out what you put in, both during work time and freetime"
